Chapter 3 Energetic Strategizing*

*the same as working with the Ultimate Strategy and Emotional Strategizing

As much as there is a specific soul determined way you manifest your abundance from the soul, that is your 'how' of the energy movement in the now in your Creative ID, there is also a way to take a journey in a process time while following the Divine Laws of the steps of the Pleasure Path following the Emerald Itinerary. This way to stay very close to the deeper meaning and ultimate manifestation power of the Path, the Ultimate Strategy, deserves to be separately addressed hereafter.

The Ultimate Strategy listens to the formula 128493756 or 12849375ab6 and shows you a way to formulate a route through time that you can confide in with your GOLD Consciousness. It gives you the safety of a steady support while staying non-codependently on your journey; it is your personal guide through the many transitions you will go through during your journey home in the absence of a coach or teacher and also while having one.

This is where the Emerald Itinerary as a book ties into Book Nine deeply, as the energy language of the nine points and some basic techniques around it that we use, are explicated there more than we can in this context. The Ultimate Strategy is a healing energy points structure that can be followed and thus it is a story; Book Nine is the body points book and the Emerald Itinerary is the story book. They belong together.

Using the Ultimate Strategy is advisable to support yourself from the now into the future that often feels so unknown and insecure (however that is an illusion but knowing the human psychology and the fact you are still on your way towards States of Being where it is more easily accessible). You can use this as a tool for spiritually sound building on the emotional and relationship and on the money and business level; on the spiritual, emotional, mental and physical. It gives you a grip in a grip-less open space of potential, to be able to move forward without reverting back to ego patterns and old habits. It is as organic as it is a plan and it is as healing as it is logic.

You can use any number of elements that you see that you will need to go through or want to execute, make a list of the nine most important of them or regroup them in nine steps to take, and put them in an order that seems intuitive and logically (preferably both) sound and then change to the Ultimate Strategy order of the numbers, and start working from there. Should you be at number 8 at position 3, and it feels differently, who knows, maybe, you can rework your strategy, but mostly this will simply carry you through with ease. It now takes only one choice to follow your inner order strategy and your creation will unfold.

The points refer to energy points in the body, that are also loaded with healing in the Source connected astral realm present on earth. These can be meditated on, assist in healing and so on in itself; at this place we will zoom in on them as elements in the particularly advised Ultimate Strategy order for an effective and efficient process towards a desired result: the ultimate mix of business and creativity in other words money and love, because it can not only be used for both topics separately and identically, but specifically because it does so when applying it on one of the suggested soul related topics at the same time. Abundance on the GOLD Consciousness scale will be felt throughout and manifest itself as a result.

What happens on the strategy steps in GOLD Consciousness development, that will be unconscious and automatic in the healing as procedures:

Creation Order

- 1 Change of source of energy and consciousness to the Divine
- 2 Mother or Divine Feminine healing
- 3 Anchoring the Divine Feminine emotionally
- 4 Twin Flame healing on the human and co-creation level
- 5a Elicit new cause: Goal
- 5b Elicit new effect: Result
- 6 GOLD Conscious 360 degree Competent Being
- 7 Anchoring Divine Masculine financially
- 8 Father or Divine Masculine healing
- 9 Mission healing into your Union and Divine ID

Creative Order

- 1 Change of source of energy and consciousness to the Divine
- 2 Mother or Divine Feminine healing
- 8 Father or Divine Masculine healing
- 4 Twin Flame healing on the human and co-creation level
- 9 Mission healing into your Union and Divine ID
- 3 Anchoring the Divine Feminine emotionally
- 7 Anchoring Divine Masculine financially
- 5a Elicit new cause: Goal
- 5b Elicit new effect: Result
- 6 GOLD Conscious 360 degree Competent Being

To be more complete, we will give a small description of the quality of energy of the 9 points, as they can be felt in meditation and essentially are as steps in a process of choice. Practical applications for manifesting abundance in easy steps, can also be found in the course provided in Money Magic 1111 that you find inside our Magic Starter Kit.

Creation Order 1 Creative Order 1

Accepting yourself and the situation as it is completely is the basis of any process of transformation towards results. Feeling the deep sense of destiny that comes with this full acceptance comes with a sense of longing that may not yet be fulfilled and that is an asking to the universe, to the Divine, to move in the favor of the All including you, you as the center of perception in the All. In the longing the homecoming is felt and included.

Creation Order 2 Creative Order 2

Allowing yourself to see the truth of the obstacles, difficulties and lessons to be learned gives the depth and thus perspective to your journey that will allow you to both progress as well as be realistic and not get lost in your dream outcome. Include your sense of where you come from into where you desire to go and ponder what needs healing the space back to your origin on the physical, emotional, mental and spiritual plane. Be thankful in advance for the healing that you accept in and see as done.

Creation Order 3 Creative Order 8

What catches your attention and puts your heart on fire as seen from a grounded place? Formulate ideas, visions and universes that feel right to you and feel free to think through their logic, responsibilities and consequences. Let the world you are creating be so real for you, that you think and feel it in every moment, because you are it. Allow yourself to make choice based on inner faith stemming from this knowing, start to seriously cut yourself loose from what it is not on all levels and start to act with and within boundaries that fit your creation to a tee.

Creation Order 4 Creative Order 4

Make your world view and consequential project real by acting the steps that you feel and think when you are going on your way with unwavering faith, so that what you mean becomes visible, audible and understandable on all levels for others. See through the process that it is for those at this time that resonate positive with it and not for those that don't without falling away from your own path leading to a destination. Find your space of peace within your Being and allow for the movements of the moment without attachment.

Creation Order 5 Creative Order 9

Surrendering into the created reality where there is nothing to really act on because it is a being in the first place, makes that you let the Source of All take over. This will reshuffle your life and project on the mental, emotional, physical and spiritual completely in unknown ways that you cannot control. You open your arms to receive the changes and the blessings and start to see that both are the same. The reality sets in that you are standing in your blessed value and it keeps on raining more additional proof of that onto you and everyone that stands with you.

Creation Order 6 Creative Order 3

A surge of energy will be experienced and you can allow it to take you where it wants to go, and with faith you see that it will elevate your elements to a new level of (self-) respect. Divine Value will start to unfold in new ways, so that it dawns on you that Heaven is an actual place on Earth, made by your self acknowledgement on the soul level and surrendering yourself until the perception change it brings as a result, collides with the Truth to such an extent that there is little difference between them. Sweet tastes of simply being here are brought to your attention in new ways that you never foresaw.

Creation Order 7 Creative Order 7

Relaxing the brain, mental energy and consciousness connected to it, shifts your thoughts into new directions. This gives you the conceptual power to steer your thoughts into an order that supports your being and that of the entire creation in the world of your choice. By allowing this new mental flush and order coming into being, you can start to arrange for mental spaces that have a clear value and claim the materialization of that value as a result. This is the mental space of time and money the occludes the value that is shared. Consciousness translated into boundaried segments support in a concrete way your creation.

Creation Order 8 Creative Order 5ab

Leaning into what you have now established in your process of creation, you open yourself to the support of Source and see how the workings and results embed themselves into the universe. Reading the findings as supportive and allowing yourself the blessings of this clarity, grounds your creation further into the web of universal Truth. An intimate exchange can now occur from heart to heart between you and others, and the subtle movements of this co-creation will be recognized and valued appropriately. There is wholeness that comes over all that participate and a sense as if this was always already meant to be and will eternally be as well.

Creation Order 9 Creative Order 6

Healed communication will emerge from this place, that will make sure a mastery of relating can commence on all levels. The subtle vibrations of what we can share as human beings come clearly on the frequency of the Divine. You tap into the All yet at the same time into the very particular, individual and human too at the very same time. This ultimate correlation between the axis of the human and the Divine, has as much sharpened as softened communication here, so that Truth can be delivered that is Love. In this ongoing process of masterful reciprocation that can truly start here, you will find your goals made flesh in an eternal movement of Divine energy.

Working practically with this formula, works like this:

1. think about your goal
2. write the numbers 1-9 down and connect every number with an action step that seems logical to take successively
3. however we all know how we can get emotionally stuck on the road to manifesting a goal at so many stages and therefore you will not only be helped by the text nudges that will talk you through that emotional stage by emotional stage of your journey, that we will get to in a second, but you also will now change the order of the journey so that the emotional journey becomes magically easy, and even ultimate
4. change the stages you noted down to this order: 128493756
5. when it does not seem to make sense now, start any way and see along the journey what the REAL (spiritual) meaning actually turns out to be of the action steps under 1
6. post your feedback in the Facebook group of Abundance Now

The first line of 9 actions we'll call Creative Order. The second, altered line of actions to take, we'll call Creation Order.

GOLD Consciousness

The Ultimate Strategy, as the advised order of the human energy points, is here to activate the blessings of GOLD Consciousness to be able to find you and give you a grounding for your processes in that endeavor. What will be activated is the structure of the consciousness that is meant here, that can be called the ultimate consciousness. It consists of parts that we will call the conscious, the unconscious and the meta conscious mind. Our current norm is to have those form the dualistic brand and the goal – if you will – is to guide them into the structure of the unionized brand. The conscious mind in both instances, is the thinking process and the according choices we are very aware of in our awake state; the unconscious mind is the shadow of that that mostly escapes us in the awake state; the meta consciousness can be called the power to be able to change your consciousness from one brand (or organization, or program) to the other. This change is a process that takes both time, because we are speaking of a brain chemistry change and an energy flow change, as well as timeless, because it is caused by a choice in the meta conscious power humans have in their soul-Source-axis. The shift (back or forth) is a transformation that is experienced as all-encompassing, completes all thoughts and feelings belonging to the one or the other conscious depending on what shift back or forth one speaks of, that belong to the consciousness one is leaving, before it completes and then cancels out the earlier program. This is the nature of such, no matter cultural connotations of thought reform, brain washing and so forth this process sometimes tends to exude for some.

After a complete shift of choice has been completed, the mind and energy consequences set in. This is done via bringing the changed biochemistry in the brain from the unconscious mind in the back side of the brain (brain stem and beyond) to the forefront that is the neocortex, and by bringing the changed energy in the sacral area to a sexual vibration in the sexual nerves that spread the new frequency through the entire nerve system: this is necessary for accessing the ability to utilize the very change that happened in being, feeling, thinking, acting. This way it is the consciousness that shapes our daily life, work, leisure, mission, social life and so on; indeed a different sort of consciousness gives eventually very different results and outcomes. It is often said for a reason, that one can see in the fruits of the persons actions, what the starting point consciousness had eventually been: a way to verify as it were the state of being of the human, professional, teacher, and so on, and how completed he or she is or was in the sort of consciousness meant. Conversely, when the process towards the completion of GOLD Consciousness does not lead to an individually fitting and social-societally successful life it does not matter. GOLD Consciousness refers to the field of life form preliminary soul-Source connection that comes when one has integrate States of Being Golden Flow and Harmonious Union. This is a unionized consciousness growing towards a perfection, that is not really known or described yet, in a pleasant way. Here, the Ultimate Strategy, based on the 9 Healing Points, can remain being utilized for ongoing progression on the Path, while the strategy should not be seen as the only tool one has for that, think about KEY as part of YOT and all other tools derived from this body of work.

However it has large energetic consequences, let's for now say some more detailed things of the brain element of it instead, as that could be said to be where it starts, to then be traveling to the energy part of this phenomenon. The change to the other kind of mind, can sometimes be made temporarily as opposed to the idea of having a permanent change, as a way to enter a special state for a specific goal. An example of that is the specific brain state I entered when downloading parts of the information of this book, and for instance the experiences that I described I went through with Nefertiti. These kinds of experiences can be thus said to be only in a spiritual brain state kind of fantasy world, however one needs to understand that they also were physical and on all levels also for to start with these experiences make themselves known in brain chemistry that needs to be interpreted and that is very physical, and additionally that we speak here of the consciousness as it is connected to the order of Truth of God (the Source connected astral), not as it relates to (astral) nonsense. Processes like these are lead from the meta consciousness that could be said to be in the brain stem, that is Christ Consciousness when attuned to the right frequency. Thus, such a brain state brings one in connection with the building blocks of Creation. Does this then also make the person extremely creative, whether it is permanently or temporarily reached?

What we call creative is often the well functioning neocortex, but then what we call more creative is in fact the unconscious that lives in the brain stem area because it highly motivates and informs the neocortex and the more essential source of creativity is thus to be found there. Some say creative is the right brain hemisphere because it is equipped with emotional and visual thinking; then the left brain is called inventive on a logical scale and that could be seen as creative as well but in another way, followed by we say the connecting between left and right is where creativity perhaps even starts. A more complete creativity can thus be said to be a fully interconnected brain that has a source consciousness as the over-all vibe inside of it, that is open for internal movement and exchange and is unionized, because that is a creation attuned mind and brain. This way you can be a true creation connected life artist, in which some also will manifest being an artistic professional artist for how we recognize that in a certain cultural paradigm, or an innovative financial entrepreneur for how we recognize that in a certain societal business network, to specify two specific sides of how to be that. Over-all, the third option would be the life artist that brings their creative qualities to light in being a Creative Entrepreneur that assists other find their own inherent soul creative qualities in a unique way, so that you assist others in becoming the best contributors of the Heaven on Earth MEconomic world we collectively will build on the frequency of Unionized Creation. This is how and why Creative Universe came into existence as a phenomenon and organization.

Wherever you desire to travel in consciousness and wherever you believe you are now in your starting position, realize you are already in a certain consciousness trance while you are not aware of it. It is not that you choose to transform and thus you suddenly are overwhelmed with the biochemical dizziness of consciousness change that creates millions of thoughts and feelings you were previously unaware of; it is that you are right now already in a particular biochemical haze but since this is your normal it does not stand out to you, no matter what your actual scientific starting position consists of. Most will only become aware of the change to the new consciousness equilibrium and this can be excruciatingly terrifying but on an unconscious level, so here it seems fitting to conjure up a large variety of educational strategies that are tailor fit to get you over that abyss of fear, which is what the body of work of what we provide stands for, and then additionally the following notes inserted here specifically.

The trouble is, that the GOLD Consciousness we are aiming at is a. very new and b. beyond good and bad meaning you will include loads of what you currently will call bad there that will not be bad when arrived and at the same time you trespass the arena of good and bad far enough so that you are genuinely on the other side where you in fact don't see both of them anymore because you merely see union and c. you will need to get it hooked inside of your consciousness before anything else can start developing that has any real meaning in the Reality of Heaven on Earth, then d. you will want to be able to guide yourself through meta consciousness meaning you will desire to be able to be there before you even get to the new GOLD Consciousness, resulting in the situation in which you want to be in meta union consciousness before you as a first step guide yourself to installing union consciousness which may be confusing and seem unattainable but that will be more okay then you believe when you see that the meta action is you reading this book, the installation is tuning to the right frequency while opening the unconscious and guiding yourself can be done through the Ultimate Strategy.

Consciousness precedes the mind, and the mind the brain. It is important to understand – again - that what we talk about here is not a fantasy, or a dream, however reality is a fantasy and a dream in the relative sense, and also when you are only able to make it right now into a fantasy or (day-) dream just yet that is fine because you can go over it again until it gets more and more real to you if that is the way you learn. The complete transformation we are here talking about is very real and has effect on your physical daily life in every way; the degree to which we are not yet able to see and do as such is equivalent to our unconscious fear of it. You know that a mind change is implemented fully is when you experience that it gives you an energetic feeling of home, a warm, kind feeling of being unmovable here-ness that feels like having accomplished the best thing that you always already had desired, now it has happened and all you can feel is thankfulness and gratitude about that has arrived. Alternately, you desire to start acting to build a heavenly life from that energetic state just described, but for now we will state that you most of all desire to genuinely arrive there on the ascended, golden, union level (words that can be used equally), that could also be called the Christed level where all Magic is at hand, and advise you to understand that building also comes from here, with the same tools, applied in another phase.

Union energy is what we mostly are about here, which is the more Divine Feminine oriented way of saying the same; it is a result of union consciousness, a consequence. This is what the sexual magic is, what we are about as well: it is the energy, which is always sexual since that is where energy is created and managed, and it is unconscious and it is the aura and it is hypnosis because this eventually all refers to the same thing. To make energy consciously accessible, yoga and meditation exist, but just as much sexual magic exists (about which more in separate documents because we cannot go into detail about that here), and so on. Invoking the change, is asking for it and choosing the change to happen and to see it through entirely in a deeply receiving place where the seed of the union consciousness mind germinates and starts to get roots and starts to produce sensations and create community and so on. The coming together of the mind seed and the energy nest could be called a Living Prayer that manifests Divine Creativity.

Union consciousness we call GOLD consciousness, because we are the magic receiving Magicians and that means alchemists, breathing life into the ancient art of transforming metals into the desired gold, which ultimately stands symbolic for an inner process of transforming thoughts and feelings into the most pure and open ended consciousness there can possibly exist for human beings so that they can receive the vibration of Source inside of them to such an extend that they become God – they are God. It is acquired by sticking your mind and essentially brain in the cloud of union consciousness that is installed in the astral connecting to God; this means energizing energy point 9 and with that also 8 and especially the inner Divine Masculine mind attuned 7. Or by attuning your energy, essentially your sexual organs connected to your nerve system, to the same; this means energizing energy point 1 and with that also 2 and especially the inner Divine Feminine energy attuned 3. Or both, however within that dual journey a distinct line of action of either could then be determined. As it is an open ended consciousness you are entering in it's complete form, this is a new experience: to feel stable in the floating in space and timeless in action feeling of it. It is a reality that is not determined by cultural, geographical and so on differences: for instance, this consciousness is in the philosophy of “Eastern” yoga and “Western” hypnotics the same, while both mostly refer to the stage of the coming into being of this consciousness and not the arrival and sustaining of it per se. Yes, that is true: one can stay there, live there, make it ones home, chose for it to stay eternally, beyond the perceived boundaries of death and rebirth, and beyond that, in the Source related soul consciousness that is the only place where Heaven on Earth resides and blooms. Welcome to the bloom of your conscious birth!

Pleasure & Perfection

Perfection is coming alive in the aliveness present in GOLD Consciousness and finding your abundance that was waiting for you there all along and revel in the joy of being that and there. Creativity flows through you while you stand in the omphalos of Creation: it is the child of it. That is the reason you will of course stand there in playfulness and in feeling good, but also in an eternal experience of going deeper while growing in abundance.

While it is not meant to be mere entertainment, pleasure is the word we choose to describe the state of ease and joy that lights the mind and energy to the maximum capacity. The promise is to be able to walk on steps that are made of this substance; while not meaning that the movement from one step to another will not contain the entire spectrum of thoughts and emotions humanly possible.

What exactly is perfection in the sphere of result remains to be seen, but it for sure is an eternally going deeper and growing more abundant. New mile stones will appear for you. Let's go on the journey through the Emerald phase to your GOLD together! Emerald is a precious stone with a safe yet regal green color, that stands for Truth and Love. GOLD is an outpouring light that is the result of the fulfillment to the degree of saturation by Truth and Love.

The only Magic that is True is LOVE. This brings you in Heaven, the Kingdom, the Golden Age, the Garden of Eden, Paradise and many other cross-cultural references: all these expressions refer to the same Divine Reality. Heaven on Earth is indeed in your Mind, and becomes true through your Energy. The procedure through which this comes into being is True Magic that brings Love into flow. The process is essentially always Here and Now, where it gets Transformed and Manifested.
